County abandons plans to replace bridge

The Haliburton County Council has been asked to follow through in its commitment to replace the Ingoldsby bridge.

The request was contained in a strongly worded resolution endorsed by the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council December 15. The resolution follows on the heels of a decision of the county road committee not to replace the bridge but to carry out needed repairs.

The county roads committee has also asked the Ministry of Transportation and Communications (MTC) to investigate the possibility of designating the Ingoldsby bridge, and the bridges at Dorset and Hawk Lake, as heritage bridges.

The Minden resolution noted, "This municipality strongly objects to the decision reached by County Council that the Ingoldsby Bridge not be replaced."

The resolution points out that a great deal of time and money has been spent on consultant plans and land acquisition for a new bridge in Ingoldsby. As well, the residents of the community, at the west end of Lake Kashagawigamog, had been led to believe that the bridge would be replaced.

"I don't think it is fair that they have talked about replacing the bridge so many times, and now they will not proceed," Anson, Hindon and Minden Councillor Pat Burk told the Thursday meeting. Mrs. Burk is a resident of the Ingoldsby area and a strong proponent for its replacement.

The county had initiated action in October 1981 to have design documents and tender forms drawn up for the new bridge. However, since then there have been a series of delays, in particular relating to a piece of property which the county expropriated on the western approach to the bridge. The owner of the property, Joseph Curtin mounted a campaign against the bridge and the expropriation of his property. Earlier this year an expropriation hearing officer ruled in the county's favour on the land question.

In addition to fighting the expropriation, Curtin canvassed property associations on Canning and Kashagawigamog Lake seeking their support to halt the new structure. He claimed the new bridge would be lower than the existing one and would hinder boat traffic.

According to information gathered by the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, discussion of the future of the bridge dates back to 1974 when the structure's replacement was first proposed. Design plans were prepared at that time and submitted to the MTC for approval.

The escalating cost of replacing the bridge and the controversy surrounding the structure appears to have swayed the county's road committee. The group accompanied representatives of the MTC to the site to inspect the bridge before reaching a decision.

According to a resolution passed by the road committee, and accepted without comment by county council Wednesday afternoon "...it was decided that the necessary repairs would be made to the existing structure to maintain its present structural capabilities and that cosmetic work will be carried out at the same time to enhance the appearance of the structure and approaches."

The resolution was passed on a recorded vote with

Tree by-law explanation will be given to councils

In an effort to explain the intricacies of the tree protection by-law, members of the committee which first drafted its terms will be visiting a number of county municipal council where opposition to the by-law still exists.

The decision to send the committee out was made at the December 14 meeting of Haliburton County Council.

The matter was raised after Forest Management Committee member Elgin Stouffer told the meeting that people in the logging industry in Dysart Township, the only municipality to approve the by-law, feel it is a necessity and that its implementation has been very successful. However, he noted that loggers in that municipality are concerned that since the restrictions are not in force across the county, those working in other areas have an unfair advantage.

Stouffer said the county could have in time, five times the forest related industry if the tree protection by-law was in place county-wide.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey said the opposition to the by-law appears to be coming from those who do not understand its contents. It was first suggested that the committee which drafted the tree protection by-law appear before county council. However, several councillors objected, saying it would be simpler for them if the committee appeared at the individual council meetings where they could answer the questions of all the councillors.

A question was raised as to how the enforcement of the by-law would be carried out on a county-wide basis. Deputy Reeve Don Shortreed of Sherbourne et al pointed out, for example, that only 3.5% of his municipality is privately owned land, where the by-law would be in force. He said it would be difficult to justify paying someone to ensure the by-law is adhered to.

Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe suggested that enforcement could be paid for on a pay-as-you-go basis so that those using the services of a qualified forestry technician to ensure the by-law is enforced, would cover the costs of the time involved.

While some members of council expressed concerns about the by-laws, Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick appeared to be the only one who opposed it actively. He wondered where all the good timber was which the by-law was meant to protect. He suggested that those logging in the county had already stripped it away.

Vick also questioned why the by-law should be considered for county-wide enforcement when there were municipalities who were opposed to it.

Members of the committee are expected to visit the municipal councils between now and mid January to explain the details of the tree protection by-law.

Your assistance in meeting these deadlines will be greatly appreciated.

OPP plan highway blitz

The Ontario Provincial Police have arranged for a mass influx of officers into the Minden Detachment to supplement the regular staff during the Holiday Season. The officers will be billeted at area motels and will not be granted any days off until the new year. The patrols will operate between 5:00 p.m. and 5:00 a.m. daily. This should ensure virtually every road in the County will have at least one police checkpoint and should effect every driver coming from a house party or social function.

The foregoing is NOT true. Manpower limitations and budget constraints do not allow for a saturation patrol of this magnitude. BUT what was your reaction upon reading it? Did you feel it unfair? Did you feel your rights were being violated, your right to "get feeling good" then drive home? If that was your reaction, then you've got the wrong attitude.

The fact that drinking drivers are the most significant cause of fatal and serious injury accidents is well documented and must be combatted. The concern is not of the social party habits of the community, but of the drinking and driving habits.

We at Minden Detachment hope you enjoy the Holiday Season. Visit friends and family and attend the social functions. But choose an option to driving after drinking. If for no other reason, refrain from driving out of fear of being caught. Adopt the belief you will pass through a police spot check on your way home. And after all, you very well may!

Municipalities consider radar buy

The municipalities of the county are considering a proposal to purchase a mobile radar unit for the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. A letter from the 1983 county warden, Bill Howe regarding the matter was read at the December 15 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council.

It was noted that the detachment currently shares a radar unit with other OPP detachments within the district. This means there are times when there is no radar patrol within the county. Due to budget restraints it is unlikely that a radar unit could be made available exclusively for the local detachment.

Howe's letter suggested that the municipalities of the county may wish to share in the $2500 purchase price of a radar unit. He suggested there could be two methods of financing the purchase with the municipalities accepting a share based on the apportionment used for taxes, or having each of the ten jurisdictions contribute an equal $250.

The Anson, Hindon and Minden council endorsed the proposal, agreeing to accept either funding method.

The radar unit being considered is a mobile one which can be used from a cruiser which is parked or in motion. Agreement to proceed with the purchase will have to wait until all municipalities have responded to the proposal.

Bonnie-Lee Berry board chairman

Anson, Hindon and Minden trustee Bonnie-Lee Berry has been appointed chairman of the Haliburton County Board of Education for 1984. The appointment came at the December 13 meeting of the board when she was elected unanimously and uncontested to the post.

She replaces Nancy Stinson as head of the board. Mrs. Stinson expressed her appreciation to the board members for their support during the year.

Mrs. Berry thanked the board for her election. She said she considered it a great honour to be elected to the post and would work hard during the coming year.

Paul Wilson was selected to serve as vice chairman of the board.

The board also filled a vacancy following the resignation of Dr. Blair Pierce, representing Dysart. Lynn Craigmyle was appointed to complete the three year term of office which ends in December 1985.

A hiring committee was also formed to select a replacement for the Director of Education. The present director, Douglas Hodgson announced his retirement earlier this year. Members of the hiring committee will include trustees Bonnie-Lee Berry, Ross Anderson, Len Salvatori, Cheryl Murdoch, Paul Wilson and Nancy Stinson.

Ingoldsby bridge

Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, the only Minden municipal representatives on the road committee, registering the only negative vote. Those voting in favour included Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman, Dysart Deputy Reeve Gary McKnight, Sherborne et al Reeve Dalton MacDonald, Warden and Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe and Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell.

Pergolas told the Minden council meeting Thursday that the construction had been deferred in 1983 because of financial restraint. However he suggested the county could have purchased the steel this year and carried out the work in a subsequent year.

He noted that the action of the road committee was not questioned by any member of county council.

According to county engineer Bill Obee the result of the resolution the bridge will continue to have the restricted load capacity and will continue as a one lane structure.

HCSA presses for rail line access

The abandoned CNR rail line which cuts through Haliburton County should be retained for the use of the general public. That was the content of a resolution endorsed Thursday evening by the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council.

The resolution was prompted by a letter from the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association requesting that the rail line, which cuts north of North, through Snowdon Township to Haliburton Village, be made available to the association for a snowmobile trail.

A similar letter was read at the county council meeting earlier last week but no action was taken by that council.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said he was disappointed by the lack of response at the county level.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas suggested that the trail should be developed for bikes and horses as there was more funding available for the development of trails for those sports.

Councillor Gary Kenney noted that the rail line forms a natural corridor into the county. He suggested that sometime in the future tracks could be reconstructed along the line, with the development of lighter trains. He said that once the corridor has been broken, it would be very difficult to piece it back together.

The resolution passed by the council will be forwarded to the county council, asking that body to support the retention of the abandoned rail line for general use.

North Road is next on county list

The Bobcaygeon Road, between Highway 118 and County Road Two, is likely to be the next road assumed into the Haliburton County road system.

It was mentioned, along with four others, in a selection process carried out by the county roads committee. A report on the committee's findings was presented to the December 14 meeting of county council.

Of the five roads under consideration, the Bobcaygeon Road acquisition was the only one for which a specific date was mentioned. That date is July 1, 1984.

Other roads in the county which the committee has identified as potential candidates for the county system include the Livingstone Lake Road, an extension of County Road 12; North Kennis Drive, an extension of County Road 7; the Irondale Road; and a short portion of the county road at Fort Irwin, which includes the bridge. No dates were indicated for the assumption of these four roads.

Council adopts 1850 dress code

Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council will be getting into the spirit of the township's 125th anniversary celebrations in 1984.

At a meeting Thursday, the council endorsed a resolution which calls on councillors to dress in attire appropriate to the 1850's for all regular council meetings during a six-month period beginning June 1. Those appearing before council will also be asked to join in the gesture.

The resolution, brought forward by Councillor Gary Kenney, also provided for fines for those not complying with the edict. A $5 fine, the proceeds of which will go toward the municipality's coffee fund, will be levied against anyone not meeting the dress code.

Fewer meetings for County Council

Members of the Haliburton County Council will face a reduced schedule of meetings in 1984.

The council endorsed a by-law December 14 which will see the number of meetings cut from ten per year to seven. Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey, who proposed the change, indicated that initially he had thought the number of meetings could be cut to six, but the committee looking into the situation decided that seven were needed.

During 1984 the county council will convene on the third Wednesday of the following months: January, March, May, July, September, November and December. In December, if the third Wednesday falls after the eighteenth of the month, the council will meet on the second Wednesday.

The inaugural meeting for the council will be held on the Tuesday evening preceeding the regular Wednesday meeting in December.

The warden, of course, is empowered to call the council into special session at any time he feels it is required.

Greater accountability

The decision taken Wednesday by the Haliburton County Council to reduce the number of meetings in 1984 could be interpreted as an indication of how ineffective that body has become. The by-law endorsed December 14, cut the number of meetings from ten to seven.

The move is a symptom of a growing deterioration of the council which at one time here, and in some parts of the province now, is a revered and honoured gathering of politicians who are having an important and public impact on their constituents.

The reduction in the number of meetings will place greater importance on committee actions. However, as far as the public is concerned, these groups hardly exist. Witness reports offered at last Wednesday's meeting by committee chairpeople: Hyland Crest-Murray Fearrey-little to report, the home is at capacity; Management Committee-Murray Fearrey-drafted by-law to reduce the number of meetings; Haliburton County Library System-Bob Vick-nothing to report; Property-Don Shortreed-nothing to report except for new ceiling in council chambers; Health Unit-Keith Tallman-no meeting held; Children's Aid Society-Jane Franklin-no meeting held. The only committee chairmen to offer anything substantial in the way of a report to their fellow councillors were: Glynne Lewis on Children Services (who always seems to have something to report, but if you asked members of council what he had to say five minutes later, most would be unable to remember); Elgin Stouffer on Forest Management and Chamber of Commerce; and County Engineer Bill Obee who provides the report for the road committee, land even it is sometimes too brief or superficial.

By reducing the number of general meetings, council has placed greater responsibility on the committees to manage the affairs of the county. With this increased responsibility we hope also goes greater accountability, for the county consumes a sizeable portion of our tax dollar. If that is not the result, the county will become an organization run by committees with little left for the councillors to do at the seven general meetings, than collect their stipend and travel allowances cheques.

Ready and waiting

Accounting for the deficit

-by John Eakins, MPP-

On December 12th, the Report of the Auditor General of Canada was tabled in the House of Commons.

Quoting from Mr. Dye's Report:

- On the expenditure side, the accounts reveal where Canadians' tax dollars go. They also show the relationship between the operating costs of the federal government and the rising federal budgets and deficits. Many people assume that increased government spending and the increased deficit are due to an ever enlarging bureaucracy. That is not so.

- In fact, operating and capital expenditures within departments and agencies, including National Defence, account for almost one-quarter of the total federal budget. The figure for the year ended 31-March 1983 is $20 billion.

- Where, then, is the rest of the money going? The answer is that a massive $63 billion goes in grants and contributions, to servicing the public debt and in payments to specific Crown-owned corporations.

- Grants and contributions include payments to the provinces for health services, Canada Assistance Plan and post-secondary education, and to individuals as old-age security, family allowances, and unemployment insurance. The total is $41 billion.

- Public debt costs were $17 billion for 1982-1983. Payments to Crown-owned corporations were $5 billion.

- Two years ago, I expressed concern about the size of the national debt and the ever-increasing annual deficits. That both the national debt and the annual deficits have grown substantially larger over the ensuing years continues to concern me. The decisions which result in annual deficits are policy decisions. These are beyond the purview of my Office. I am also, of course, aware that economists have widely divergent views in regard to the merits of deficit financing.

- What should be beyond dispute, however, is that the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada should, as informatively as possible, set out the operational results and financial position of the Government. For example, if the reporting of liabilities is incomplete, this directly affects the reported deficit and financial position of the Government. The consequence is to leave Parliament with an incomplete or misleading

- My conviction is that the primary objective of the Government's summary financial statements must be to provide a clear picture of the Government's overall financial position, including how it has changed since the previous financial statements were tabled. By contrast, the Government describes the current financial statements as "designed primarily to provide an accounting of the financial resources appropriated by Parliament" and "to report compliance with legislative authority".

- In brief, parliamentarians are asking for a financial map to show them where they have been and where they are. Further, it has to help them chart their choices for the future.

- My contention is that, with the Government emphasizing compliance as the primary objective of its statements, it is as though parliamentarians were being handed a road map showing speed limits when their real need is for one showing starting points and present locations. Speed limits are important. So is compliance. But in financial matters, as in travelling, it is even more important to know

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

One of Southwestern Ontario's finest natural areas, a 64 hectare woodland on the edge of London, can be converted to a large housing project. That's the ruling of Ontario Municipal Board Hearing Officer D. M. Rogers, who agreed to a developer's plan for laying waste to the virtually untouched remnant of mature deciduous forest known as Warbler Woods.

Named after the golden-winged warblers which nested within, Warbler Woods has been enjoyed and studied by naturalists since 1910. No wonder. It is an excellent and remarkably undisturbed example of the mature upland forests once blanketing southern Ontario. The steep ravines and rolling hills defined by the underlying till moraine, support a rich assortment of deciduous trees such as red maple and white oak, as well as more southerly species such as shagbark hickory and black cherry.

In early spring, carpets of white trilliums heighten the pleasure of a walking tour.

At least six species of plants occurring in the woods are considered rare in Ontario or Canada. One of three known American chestnut trees remaining in Ontario stands in Warbler Woods and this species is now rare in North America.

All these natural values have not gone unnoticed. The McIlwraith Field Naturalists of London, have been fighting to keep the woodland "as is" since 1976. They were initially supported by the provincial Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) which recognized Warbler Woods as a natural area of provincial significance, worthy of provincial park status. But after completing a host of studies backing up this designation, the Ministry backed away from the issue, because senior officials were unwilling to intervene in the municipal arena. The McIlwraith Naturalists were left to defend the public interest at their own expense before the OMB.

In reaching his decision to approve development, the Hearing Officer concluded from MNR's failure to formally object, or purchase the property, that it did not have high regard for the woodland. He also turned down a number of compromise proposals from the naturalists, rejecting their arguments about long-known public benefits of maintaining a bit of natural heritage in favour of those who can afford to pay at least $250,000 for the large homes to be built. Ironically, all this was rationalized by saying "the Board must be concerned about the

Rustler in fourth

After Saturday's game, The Rockcliffe Rustlers of the North Victoria-Haliburton Hockey League, had picked up two wins and a tie against some pretty tough competition.

On Sunday, in a hard-fought battle, they dropped a close 8-7 decision to Bobcaygeon. On Saturday, at the Minden Community Centre, they skated to a fast paced 5-5 tie against York Tavern from Lindsay. Scoring for the Rustlers were Joe Gilles, Dave Dollo, Harris Steele, Brian Shaw, Sid McKeegan. McKeegan's goal came in the dying minutes of the game and tied the game for the Rustlers.

Following last week's play, the Rustlers hold down fourth spot in the seven team league. The Rustlers are in Bobcaygeon tonight (Wednesday) for a game against York Tavern and play Burnt River Thursday December 29 at the Minden arena. Game time is 7 p.m.

Auditor Generals report

where you have come from and where you are.

The increase in the national debt is important to all Canadians. Parliamentarians have the need - and all Canadians the right - to know the actual deficit, the actual debt as precisely as can be stated. My Opinion on the Financial Statements of the Government of Canada illustrates that those amounts would differ by many billions of dollars from what is presented in those statements if the Government were to prepare the statements with the primary aim of providing the clearest possible picture of its overall financial position to the people of Canada.

The integrity of the summary financial statements is, therefore, not merely a theoretical issue for discussion by accountants. Although economists may be divided on the merits of deficit budgeting, the one certain thing is that there is a direct link between parliamentarians' awareness of the magnitude of the annual deficit and the policies they agree to. Further, there is a direct link between their decisions and the impact of those decisions on such things as inflation, unemployment and the cost of credit - all of which are of vital significance to every Canadian.

In short, Mr. Dye has condemned the integrity of present government accounting policies. He rightly attacks them for failing to provide Parliament and the country with accurate and complete reports on the financial status of the Government. As he states, no individual should make future financial commitments without knowing exactly where they stand. Why should the Government ask Parliament to approve spending plans for the nation when there is serious doubt about the figures they are using to justify that spending?

The Prime Minister's response in the House was that he had not read it yet, but hoped to over the Christmas recess. That is how little regard he has for the concerns of the Canadian public.

Outdoors

greatest value to the greatest number of persons..."

It's not a happy story. Southern Ontario is losing an important natural area of rare Carolinian vegetation. The MNR has failed, once again this year, to defend the public interest in conservation as well as its own land use goals. And the OMB has shown, again this year, an amazing indifference to environmental concerns. Some changes are due.

Voting change

-by John Eakins, MPP-

These changes will allow for a shorter election period, recognizing the trends toward this across Canada.

There are three significant changes in the nomination process - a reduction from 100 to 25 in the number of signatures required for nomination; the requirement for the first time of a deposit of $200 and the requirement of a statement of having filed - or an undertaking to file - for registration with the Commission on Election Contributions and Expenses from each candidate.

Enumerators will be required to make three visits before leaving a notice envelope at the residence and provision is made to add names to the voters list up until the day before polling. In rural ridings the historic right of election day vouching will be continued.

Returning officers will be required to seek out polling locations with access for the disabled. Poll officials will be authorized to move the ballot box to help the elderly or disabled - for example, carrying the box to the door if the voter cannot come inside.

Municipalities and school board, along with landlords of premises of more than 100 dwelling units, will be required to make polling space available at the request of the returning officer.

I hope that the variety of changes which are suggested in the amendments brought before the Legislature will be well received and will proceed quickly in the early days of the new session next spring. I would be pleased to receive any comments you wish to make.

Another British tradition is going to be removed by Premier Davis. Ontario's Election Act is going to be amended.

I welcome the statement by the Honourable Thomas Wells which outlines certain changes. The term "British Subject" will be removed and in the future voting privileges will be for Canadian citizens. This is sensible and fair to every newcomer to Canada.

When the federal government changed the federal Act there was a great cry that Mr. Trudeau was removing another British tradition. Now that Mr. Davis has followed suit, I don't think there will be one objection. It is a move I have long favoured.

While I would like to see this change take place at the same time as the other amendments, I do accept the term of July 1, 1986, so that any qualified British subject will have the opportunity to readily and easily become a Canadian citizen if he or she wishes to vote in a provincial election after that date.

Election day in Ontario continues to be Thursday. The bill provides for a common time for polling between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. local time, year round, except in the districts of Kenora and Rainy River which are in the central time zone. Polls there will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. central time. The effect is that no poll will open sooner or close later than any other poll in Ontario.

The minimum period between the issue of the writs and polling day is reduced from 37 days to 30 days, but nomination day will remain 14 days before polling day.

Both Minden and Haliburton teams were eliminated after their second round of play. The two teams opened the tournament at 8 a.m. Saturday morning in a game that saw then battle to a 2-2 tie. Minden advanced to the championship semi-finals by virtue of having scored the first goal of the game.

Tom MacLeod and Trini Elias shared the scoring honours for Minden in the opening game. MacLeod scored from Kent Taylor at the 9:07 mark of the first period.

The Elias goal came in the third period after Haliburton's Ron Perrin had evened the score on an unassisted effort in the second period. Assist on the Elias goal went to Gord Wood and Derek Allison.

The tying goal for Haliburton was scored with just 40 seconds left to play in the game. Shawn Stoughton scored from Drew Mitchell.

Jim Riordon was in nets for Minden while the Haliburton netminder was Gavin McKnight.

In the second game of the series, Minden was shut-out by Bobcaygeon, with seven goals scored against the home team.

Council passes on agency proposal

The council took no action on a suggestion that the municipality hire an agency to collect overdue taxes. A.O. Shingler Company Limited has offered its services to the municipality for this purpose.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas said in his previous municipal experience in Scarborough he had found that this sort of agency helped speed the payment of overdue accounts. He noted that of particular concern to the municipality is business taxes which are assessed against a business rather than real property. He said the municipality often does not receive its taxes when a business closes and the owners leave town.

Councillor Gary Kenney

said the problem of unpaid taxes was more one of cash flow than bad debts. He noted that because of the seasonal nature of the employment in the area, property owners are often unable to pay the outstanding taxes by the end of the year. He suggested that stronger methods should be used to collect taxes that are more than two years overdue but he suggested the council should use "less vigilante tactics", a reference to the services provided by the agency, in collecting overdue taxes.

At a recent meet the councillors open house at the community centre, it was revealed that the municipality averages 14% in unpaid taxes per year.

Did you know?

by Ruth Foster

Have you ever thought about what volunteers do for our County? Why, in our office alone, we have ten volunteers that either answer the telephones, type, give out information or canvass the streets with brochures. They are a vital part of our organization and one could say that they are the backbone of this service.

Elgin Stouffer is another person we could recognize in our County as someone who does some excellent volunteer work. Elgin lives at Halls Lake and provides current events and weather reports for the local radio stations in and around our area. He is very dedicated to this task (and it is a big one!) and has been providing an excellent service for our county. Elgin is however, finding it hard to keep up with the current events in the county. Therefore, he would ask that the local organizations that would like the publicity, call him and leave a message with either himself or on his answering machine. Mr. Elgin Stouffer can be reached by calling (705) 489-2395.

Jane Graham in Minden has contributed many volunteer hours to the Haliburton County Home Support Services. Jane has spent almost four years convening the Meals to Wheels program for the senior and disabled people in her area. Presently, Jane is wishing to retire from this position and I think she deserves a long awaited break.

This volunteer job involves telephone work -- no driving -- but it gives you a feeling of goodwill knowing that you are helping someone receive a well-balanced hot meal, three times a week. I hope that we can help Jane by finding a volunteer to carry on this service. If you live in Minden village and would like to know more about this position, you can call Marie Wallace at 457-2941 or call Jane at 286-2024.

These people are just a few that have volunteered their time and energy to helping the County of Haliburton. From time to time I will be writing about volunteers in our county. I also hope that if you have a bit of time to spare, you will become a Haliburton County volunteer yourself.

A little note about Christmas: A safe Christmas is a Merry Christmas. Please don't drink and drive. Be careful of fires by watering your tree and don't put all your wrapping paper in your fireplace or wood stove at once. Just use your common sense. And I'm sure you will all have a Merry Christmas.

Confusion over coin inventory

Does the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce have 1500 commemorative coins or 2500 coins remaining from the 10,000 purchased this year?

According to the County Council representative on the Chamber, Elgin Stouffer, reporting to the December 14 meeting of the council, the Chamber board of directors was told the day earlier that there were only 1500 coins unsold.

However, before the Deputy Reeve of Stanhope township completed his report, County clerk treasurer Win Lahay told the meeting that she felt sure there were 2000 coins in the county vault.

Stouffer told the meeting that the Chamber was not concerned about selling the remaining coins or about having them turned in as legal tender at local banks. (The coins, which were issued to mark the elevation of Haliburton to full county status, were valued at one dollar and are acceptable as legal tender in the county until the end of the year.)

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey said the Chamber should be making an effort to promote the coins as Christmas gifts.

In regard to the county tartan material, Stouffer told the meeting that the material had been sold to a local store at the same price for which it had been originally purchased. The Chamber had sold the material to the two Stedmans stores in the county so it would not have to be concerned with the sale of the yard goods and could recover the money invested in the material.

Stouffer told the meeting the board of directors feel the tartan is an asset to the county and they are now approaching a company in Toronto which deals exclusively in tartans to see if they would be willing to stock it. He noted that yearly sales of the material are small, amounting to around $1000. He said there was little likelihood the sale of the material would increase dramatically in the future.

Commenting on the fact the Chamber of Commerce sold the tartan material at the same price it paid for it, Murray Fearrey said, "That is certainly no way to put money in the bank."

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

senior league

by Bert Harrison

Service in the chapel Sunday night, sang Christmas carols, Harold read the scripture lesson, taken from Mathew second chapter, also lead in prayer, the Rev. Burgess spoke on how the birth of Jesus did occur, and the wise men came with gold, frankincense and myrrh. To the Editor of the Times Paper and all of his staff, to the Haliburton Echo and their staff too, we would like to say a big thank you for printing our Senior League letter, all through '83. A Joyous Christmas to you all from the Mrs. and me.

Rev. Wicks did not come to take the service Tuesday morning and did not tell us why, Fred Ballard could not come to play the music feeling not too spry, not so many there, Doris played we sang some Christmas carols, and closed with the Lord's Prayer.

The movies Tuesday afternoon, The Critter the Racoon, Rideau Canal Reflecting, Silent Night, and New Norway which was quite a sight.

We would like to thank our girls and all who are responsible for decorating our Home so lovely for the festive season.

Life was saddened, for us at this Christmas time, by the passing of Mrs. Blanche Windsor, a dear sister of mine.

There is always time to add a bit of humour, Wednesday a.m. - about five o'clock, the fire alarm went off which gave us quite a shock. A nurse came running in, bless her dear heart, get your boots on in case you have to start. Now wouldn't we look cute standing in the snow, wearing only boots. There wasn't any fire, so instead we took off our boots and crawled back into bed.

It was nice to see our own Annie Cox's picture in the paper, along with five generations. Congratulations Annie.

We have Ralph Daniel back again down our line, after being absent for quite some time. Earl Cooper came Wednesday night, brought his wife and daughter and sister-in-law too, if they left Kathy out, I don't know what we'd do. Earl played some lively tunes on his violin, then Kathy played the accordion, we sang some Christmas carols and good old hymns. Tuesday morning the grade 6 pupils along with their teacher, Dale McConnell from the Archie Stouffer school, came over and put on the play, The Mystery of the Stolen Presents. Real entertaining and well acted too, we enjoyed it all the way through.

Mrs. Margaret Sisson came back to us today, we hope she likes it better and decides to stay.

The senior ladies of the Minden Curling Club, brought in the luncheon Thursday, we did not partake we were away. Very sure it was good also sure they were thanked, if they weren't they should.

The ladies working at the round table say it doesn't seem fair, everything they try to make round, nothing seems square.

We haven't had any Sing Songs for three weeks or so, no one to make things hum. Grace Coburn had a real bad cold and could not come. They came this Friday - Grace to lead the singing, Fred Ballard the organ to play. It's nice to have them come to entertain we look forward to when they come again.

To all our readers far and near,

This is our wish for you. That you have a Merry Christmas and

A Happy New Year too. Bert Harrison

Call 286-1288 - 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

May we begin this week by wishing each and every one of you a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous and Happy New Year.

Jean-Paul Dispaux, 1979-80 Rotary exchange student from Belgium and Nathalie Potaznik, also from Belgium, will be spending Christmas with Don Hall and his family. Jean-Paul is spending the school year in Statesboro, Georgia on a Rotary University scholarship.

Other overseas visitors are Karen McCreddie of Blantyre, Scotland and Hugh Taylor of Reading, England who are spending the holiday season with the Beers family.

This Friday, December 23, there will be free Christmas movies for children at the Library Cultural Centre at 1:30 p.m. Let's have a good crowd out to this show. Make it worthwhile running the movies.

The draw for the LOBA handmade piece quilt was won by Suzanne Beschenes, c/o Jean Hewitt, Minden. The winning number was 152 and was drawn at the regular meeting on December 14.

Fred and Bess Cox travelled to Lindsay Sunday to help celebrate her sister Susan's birthday. A call was received earlier in the morning from Susan's parents who are wintering in Florida. The weather update reported a balmy 72 degrees down south.

Winners at the Thursday afternoon card party at the Parish Hall last week were for cribbage Joyce Hewitt (perfect score) and Dora Dawson; in euchre, lone hands Freda Stacey, May Eldridge and Martha Mansfield.

Sincere sympathy to the families of the late Diane Stevens and Bertha Barry who passed away since last week.

Guests over the weekend with the Milton Sears' were Carol and Reg Leaman and Philip and Karen of Keswick, Muriel Ewing, Chris and Scott, Sandra Sears and Logan, all of Toronto.

We must mention, by the way, that the card parties at St. Paul's will carry on over the holiday season each Thursday.

Hi kids!

Here is another puzzle for you. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters.

It's as easy as that. Have fun.

Q: What did the boy octopus say to the girl octopus?

A: I want to hold your hand, hand, hand, hand, hand, hand, hand hand.

Q: What goes clomp, clomp, clomp, clomp, clomp, clomp, squoosh?

A: An octopus with one shoe off.

Q: What did the octopus wear on cold days?

A: A coat of arms.

Q: Where do clams sleep?

A: In a water bed.

Q: Why does the ocean roar?

A: You would too if there were lobsters in your bed.

Q: Why are fish so smart?

A: Because they travel in schools.

Q: How can you tell a skeleton from an elephant?

A: It's hard to get into a revolving door with an elephant.

Q: Did you hear what happened to the ghoulish who fell down the well?

A: He kicked the bucket.
